FOR WHOM

Care begins with recognition

Care begins with people and what they radiate. Care begins with recognising a look, a gesture, a voice. What someone wears radiates calm and confidence. We design workwear that connects people and makes your identity and corporate style visible.

Every role within the healthcare organisation has its own style; together, they form one recognisable whole.

Van Moer dresses your entire hospital or healthcare institution.

ABOUT VAN MOER

For generations, we have been making clothing for those who care

At Van Moer, we believe that good care begins with trust – and that clothing can contribute to it.

Our industrially washable clothing is designed to move with the demands of care. It is made for intensive use, day after day.

We choose quality that goes beyond fabric and stitching. For the wearer – for those who make the difference every day, heart and soul.

SUSTAINABILITY

What we make, we make with care for people, nature and a sustainable future.

Every day, we prove that workwear and sustainable responsibility go hand in hand. Every fibre, every seam, every design: everything is thoughtfully sustainable.

DISCOVER OUR SUSTAINABLE APPROACH

Sustainable organisation

We are building a complete ecosystem. We make sustainability visible and verifiable through ISO 14001, our ESG approach and EcoVadis.

Sustainable raw materials

We select fabrics and materials from European suppliers that comply with strict environmental standards. Every fabric is tested for durability, safety and impact. Our main suppliers comply with OEKO-TEX® STeP and sign our strict Van Moer Code of Conduct.

Sustainable transport

Through combined outbound and return transport, smart groupage and minimal packaging, we make optimal use of every loading space. This minimises empty kilometres and reduces our CO₂ emissions.

Sustainable design

Every design is developed to remain in its first life cycle for as long as possible. Every step is documented and traceable down to the smallest detail.

Sustainable production

We produce to order, with minimal residual waste. People and the environment go hand in hand with efficiency and quality in our production. We work with fixed partners in Eastern Europe and North Africa – workshops that are BSCI-audited and meet the highest standards for working conditions, quality and transparency.

Sustainable reuse

We are proud of our circular fabric. When garments reach the end of their first life cycle, we strive for the most valuable second destination through reuse, fibre recycling or application in furniture and new textile products.

POSSIBILITIES

No catalogue, but co-creation

Our focus is on co-creation.

Together, we develop a customer-specific clothing line. Our expertise and artistic vision, combined with your wishes, create a surprising and innovative result.

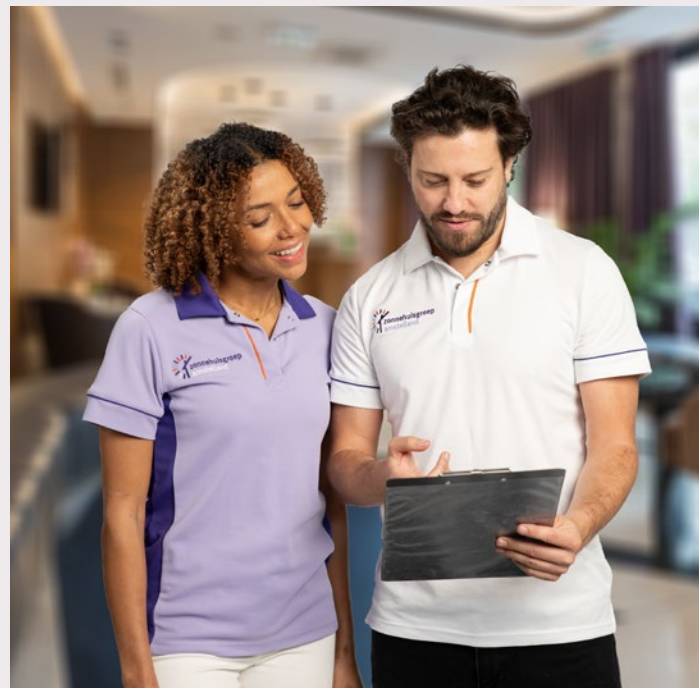

Recognisability and comfort are central to a design in which colour, material and fit reflect the unique identity of your corporate style.

We would be happy to show you what is possible in a personal meeting or through an inspiring presentation.

POSSIBILITIES

Our approach

We develop clothing that supports the work and puts people first.

Through co-creation, we design workwear that suits your team, your environment and your way of providing care. From the first conversation to the last detail, we work together step by step – from presentation drawings and prototypes to the test phase, production and ongoing involvement.

The result is clothing that is not only functional, but also comfortable to wear and stylish in appearance.

Thorough conversation

Everything starts with a good conversation in which we get to know each other. During a presentation, we show garments for inspiration.

Presentation drawings

Based on a needs analysis, we create coloured presentation drawings for style, colour and material.

Test models and prototypes

We develop sample garments in the same fabrics, yarns and trims as the final production.

Test phase

Selected users wear and test the prototypes in practice. Based on your feedback, we fine-tune until everything is right.

Production and delivery

Once the prototypes are approved, your collection moves into production, followed by delivery.

We keep in touch

Our team ensures follow-up through regular evaluations.

END OF LIFE

Closing the circle

Customer

The circle closes with you. Your organisation wears clothing with a story – and with a measurable impact on people and the environment.

Recycling

Discarded clothing is sorted.

Spinning mill

The fibres are spun back into yarn, ready to be processed again.

Weaving mill

The yarns take shape and are woven again into high-quality fabric.

Atelier

In our regular workshops, we turn it into durable clothing once again.
